This collectible toy replicates IH's never-released 7688 prototypes. The IH marketing group wanted more prominent model numbers for the 7688 and eventually for all IH agricultural products. Their goal was to make them more visible to passersby - particularly neighboring farmers who could more easily see the brand and model of their neighbor's products. The thought was that this could encourage others to buy something similar or perhaps even better than the folks next door. Now, this piece of history can be a part of your collection!
